Notes on Use

With the consent of the guardian ad litem and the secretary, a parent may relinquish parental rights prior to a hearing to consider the termination of parental rights. The relinquishment shall be acknowledged before a judge or notary. If the relinquishment is acknowledged before a judge, it shall be the duty of the court to advise the relinquishing parent of the consequences of the relinquishment. If a parent relinquishes a child to the secretary based on a belief that the other parent would relinquish the child or be found unfit, and neither occurs, the rights of the parent who relinquished based on that belief shall not be thereby terminated.

If the person cannot read and understand English, specifically state how they were informed of all their rights and the consequences of relinquishment.
