

Your Rights

During an APS Investigation

The Kansas Department for Children and Families (DCF) Adult Protective Services (APS) is mandated by Kansas Law 39-1433 to complete an assessment when a report of adult abuse, neglect or financial exploitation is assigned.

Your Rights

During an APS Investigation

The Kansas Department for Children and Families (DCF) Adult Protective Services (APS) is mandated by Kansas Law 39-1433 to complete an assessment when a report of adult abuse, neglect or financial exploitation is assigned.

Your Rights

During an APS Investigation

The Kansas Department for Children and Families (DCF) Adult Protective Services (APS) is mandated by Kansas Law 39-1433 to complete an assessment when a report of adult abuse, neglect or financial exploitation is assigned.

Your Rights

The Kansas Department for Children and Families (DCF) Adult Protective Services (APS) is mandated by Kansas Law 39-1433 to conduct an investigation when a report of adult abuse, neglect or financial exploitation is assigned for an investigation.

- When you are involved in an APS investigation or a case is open for APS services, you have certain rights.
- The right to know there is an open APS case and the allegations.
- The right to be informed that APS must complete an investigation and may be required to take action to address immediate safety concerns.
- The right to have your confidential information protected, as required by law.
- The right to discuss the situation with the APS Supervisor if you have concerns with the manner in which the investigation was conducted.
- The right to accept, withdraw, or refuse protective services interventions, unless there is a reason to believe there is not capacity to consent. However, law enforcement may be notified to address immediate safety concerns.
- The right to have any action taken by DCF staff on your behalf in the least restrictive manner necessary.
- The right to have decisions made about you free from discrimination due to race, religion, color, sex, disability, national origin or ancestry.
- The right to know when the investigation is completed and the finding/outcome.
- Right to refuse to speak to APS.

Your Rights

The Kansas Department for Children and Families (DCF) Adult Protective Services (APS) is mandated by Kansas Law 39-1433 to conduct an investigation when a report of adult abuse, neglect or financial exploitation is assigned for an investigation.

- When you are involved in an APS investigation or a case is open for APS services, you have certain rights.
- The right to know there is an open APS case and the allegations.
- The right to be informed that APS must complete an investigation and may be required to take action to address immediate safety concerns.
- The right to have your confidential information protected, as required by law.
- The right to discuss the situation with the APS Supervisor if you have concerns with the manner in which the investigation was conducted.
- The right to accept, withdraw, or refuse protective services interventions, unless there is a reason to believe there is not capacity to consent. However, law enforcement may be notified to address immediate safety concerns.
- The right to have any action taken by DCF staff on your behalf in the least restrictive manner necessary.
- The right to have decisions made about you free from discrimination due to race, religion, color, sex, disability, national origin or ancestry.
- The right to know when the investigation is completed and the finding/outcome.
- Right to refuse to speak to APS.

Your Rights

The Kansas Department for Children and Families (DCF) Adult Protective Services (APS) is mandated by Kansas Law 39-1433 to conduct an investigation when a report of adult abuse, neglect or financial exploitation is assigned for an investigation.

- When you are involved in an APS investigation or a case is open for APS services, you have certain rights.
- The right to know there is an open APS case and the allegations.
- The right to be informed that APS must complete an investigation and may be required to take action to address immediate safety concerns.
- The right to have your confidential information protected, as required by law.
- The right to discuss the situation with the APS Supervisor if you have concerns with the manner in which the investigation was conducted.
- The right to accept, withdraw, or refuse protective services interventions, unless there is a reason to believe there is not capacity to consent. However, law enforcement may be notified to address immediate safety concerns.
- The right to have any action taken by DCF staff on your behalf in the least restrictive manner necessary.
- The right to have decisions made about you free from discrimination due to race, religion, color, sex, disability, national origin or ancestry.
- The right to know when the investigation is completed and the finding/outcome.
- Right to refuse to speak to APS.