Do I have to apply for LIEAP every year?

Most households will need to submit a new application for LIEAP every year.

Some households may be continuously eligible for LIEAP for a three-year period if everyone in the household is 62 years old or older and Social Security or KPERS is the only source of income and they have not moved since their last LIEAP season benefit. Households that meet this criterion will be notified when they need to fill out a new application to renew their LIEAP benefits.

How much is the LIEAP benefit amount?

The LIEAP benefit amount is based on several factors, including:

- Federal funding received and the anticipated number of applicants.
- Household income.
- Number of persons living at the address.
- Type of dwelling.
- Type of primary heating fuel.

Can I qualify for LIEAP if my name is not on the utility bill?

An adult household member's name must be on the utility bill of the primary heating source. If you rent from a landlord and heating costs are included in the rent or are owed in addition to the rent, you may also qualify and should apply for LIEAP under your name.

Can the LIEAP benefit be split between two utilities?

Yes. Both bills must be in the name of an adult household member.

How many LIEAP payments will I receive?

LIEAP pays only one benefit per year.

If funding allows, a supplemental LIEAP benefit may be issued at the end of each LIEAP season to households that received a benefit during that season. Households will be notified if they are going to receive a supplemental LIEAP benefit.

I received my LIEAP benefit but still need help paying my utility bill. What else can I do?

Kansans may be able to find additional support by contacting United Way's 211 hotline or website, 211.org or by calling 1-800-CHILDREN (1-800-244-5373) or visiting their website, 1800childrenks.org.

Your utility company may also have other options to help with your utility bill.
